Mind Over Matter

Strategies to Help Combat the Coronavirus Blues

A Resource Guide

Compiled by the COVID 19 Schools Task Force, FEMA Region VII and HHS Region 7

Kansas City, Missouri September 2021
Welcome to the Mind Over Matter. Strategies to Combat the Coronavirus Blues Resource Guide!

What is this? A catalog of links to information and graphics aimed at college and university campus communities. The goal of this guide is to provide ideas for students, faculty, staff and administrators to help manage the challenges of COVID-19 during school, work and daily life.

Who are we? A joint COVID-19 Schools Task Force, made up of staff from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services (HHS) offices in Kansas City, Missouri. The focus of the task force since its inception in July 2020, has been to provide information to colleges and universities that will improve individual preparedness and general well-being during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Why create this guide? In the late fall of 2020, we noticed an increasing trend in mental health fatigue across the country associated with the pandemic, including at colleges and universities. So we aimed to collect a variety of strategies to help combat that fatigue and promote general wellness that can be used right now during the pandemic, and carried forward into the future. Our research revealed that good mental health is not just about a healthy mind. Rather, good mental health is holistic. Yes, it’s about managing emotions and stress. But it’s also about better sleep, healthier food and increased movement. And ... squeezing in some fun along the way!

How to use the guide: The information is themed into 6 categories:

- Top Guns (Tools for Faculty and Leadership)
- Why These Feelings? (How to Manage a Gamut of Emotions)
- Takin' a Break (Fun Things to Do During the Pandemic)
- Lullaby and Goodnight (Tips for Better ZZZs)
- Stomping Stress (Surviving and Thriving thru Adversity)
- Getting your Groove Back (Winning @ Wellness)

Within each category, you will find several resource documents associated with the topic. Each entry contains the exact name of the document (for easier searching if the web link changes), a short description of the content, a web link to the document and the source of information. Entries showing a thumbnail graphic or picture signify that the information is available online as a downloadable PDF and provide a quick visual of what the PDF looks like. Entries with a shape (star, smiley face, moon, etc.) and the words “Webpage Content” signify that the information is available online only and not as a PDF.
There are two companion pieces to this guide. One piece contains links to social media graphics and toolkits; the other lists hyperlinks for additional important resources such as crisis hotlines, and state-specific COVID-19 mental health-related information.

Permissions: As an academic community, we know that you understand the importance of sourcing information and providing credit as applicable. We do too. So we ask that if you reproduce any of the information in this guide, you provide the proper credit to the originator of the material. We also recommend looking for any pertinent copyrights.

One final note: This resource guide represents a collection of online informational resources on the general topics of mental and physical wellness. It does not encompass all available information on these topics. Likewise, this material is not intended to provide medical advice or be a substitute for seeking the advice of a medical professional. This material also does not constitute an endorsement of any organization or resource material by FEMA, HHS or other agency of the U.S. Government.

Thank you for reading! We hope that you will find the content in the ensuing pages useful, and that our goal of contributing to the overall wellness at colleges and universities during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond is successful.

Best regards,

HHS/FEMA Region 7 COVID-19 Schools Task Force
